Explore the surroundings

Rivers, Karsts & Spas between the Danube and the Carpathians

One of the best assets of the region is its stunning natural beauty. In the surroundings of Timișoara (up to 200 km) you can find more national and natural parks, as well as countless natural reserves. They cover huge areas, starting from the rugged mountain peaks of the Carpathians going over 2500 meters in height, down to the wild landscape of the "Iron Gates" of the Danube, Europe's longest river gorge.

The great gorge of the Danube makes up about 130 km of the region's southern border. In places, the river bed narrows from 4 km to only 200 meters, shadowed by limestone walls 250 meters high. This spectacular landscape is one of Europe's "must-see" spots.

North of it two other national parks – Semenic - Cheile Carașului and Nera-Beușnița, respectively, preserve a typical karst area, abounding in gorges, caves and waterfalls.

The south part of the Banat includes also the Baile Herculane resort, set in the lovely Cerna Valley. It is one of the oldest spa resorts in the world - already used by the romans, 2000 years ago and also beloved by the famous Sissi, who visited it no less than five times.
